

Thesis Competition 2018-2019: Call For Entries

The European Institute for Commercial Communications Education (edcom) is hosting its sixth Annual Bachelor and Master Thesis Competition. The purpose of this competition is to celebrate and reward the best Bachelor and Master thesis, dissertation or essay produced by students from edcom member schools. Please find below an overview of how the competition works:

1. Launch of competition

18 June 2018 – Launch edcom Thesis Competition

- edcom students can contact their designated edcom coordinator to express their interest to take part in the competition. A full list of edcom members and their designated coordinators can be found here.
- Each edcom member is eligible to select one finalist in the Bachelor and one in the Master category. The edcom coordinator selects the best BA and/or MA thesis and informs the edcom Secretariat of their nomination.
- Please note that the thesis itself doesn't have to be written in English for students to compete. Only the abstract and the poster should be submitted in English.

2. Submit abstract

24 October 2018 – Deadline to submit abstract

- Selected finalists should send an essay-style abstract of the thesis in English to inspire@eaca.eu by 24 October 2018.
- The essay-style abstract should contain no more than 500 words and focus on the topic and its relevance for the field of commercial communications. The abstract should include the following: hypothesis, research questions, methodology, main findings and suggestions for future research. The name of the author and the school should not be mentioned in the abstract for anonymity purposes.

3. Judging process

Round one

- The research Committee judges all entries upon two pre-requirements: research and relevance
- Papers that aren't relevant to the commercial communications industry or that don't include all required elements (hypothesis, research questions, methodology, main findings and suggestions for future research) will be disqualified.
- 19 November 2018 – Announcement second round finalists

Round two

- Candidates passing on to the second round will have to submit a poster of their thesis by 7 January 2019. This poster will summarise the main themes, evidence and findings. The poster should include the following:
 - A1 (594 x 841 mm) PDF format, "landscape" orientation.
 - The poster should be clearly and logically organised, and should concisely explain your research to a wide audience. Ensure text font is legible (font size at least 14).
 - Include text and graphics that explain the research objectives and the importance of the research and findings.
 - Highlight your hypothesis or statement of the problem, methods, results, conclusions and suggestions for future research.
 - Please ensure that you have permission – where necessary – to use all material, including images.
 - An example of previously successful posters can be found here.
 - The name of the author and the school should not be mentioned in the poster for anonymity purposes.
- In the second round, the abstract and the poster will be evaluated according to the following criteria:
 - Strong objectives (10%)
 - Clearly developed methodology (20%)
 - Results fitting to the proposed objectives (30%)
 - Conclusions based on the objectives and suggestions for further research (20%)
 - Consistency & coherence (20%)

Each thesis will be given a score out of 100% and ranked against the other entries. The Research Committee will agree on which entries will proceed to the final round.

- 4 February 2019 – Announcement third round finalists

Round three

- The final entries will be judged on two criteria: novelty (does the thesis offer a new and original insight) and scale (what is the magnitude of the achievement).
- 12 February 2019 – Announcement winners edcom Thesis Competition 2018-2019

4. Prize

- All finalists will receive an edcom Certificate
- The winners will receive an edcom Certificate, publication of their thesis summary on the edcom website, the possibility to be published in a European advertising journal or magazine and a €400 cash prize. The participating schools will receive a €400 voucher, which can be spent on edcom and EACA educational initiatives.
